Q: Jquery, add more input fields on clicking button I'm learning jquery and I'm currently stuck with an issue. Basically I'd like to add input fields to a table, the problem is I cannot figure out how to make the input field title in the code link to the div on the same page I'm working on, and also, I'd like to add some sort of class or id to the input fields to be able to detect multiple of them on the page. Also if someone has some resources on doing this with jquery would be much appreciated. Here's the code that is currently working:
$(document).ready(function() { $('#btnAdd').click(function() { var rowCount = $('.label').length + 1; var newRow = ''; $('.label').last().before(newRow); return false; }); }); Add More
